Because 9 could not stop for Death

by Emily Dickinson

Because I could not stop for Death, He kindly stopped for me; The carriage held but just ourselves And Immortality.

We slowly drove, he knew no haste, And I had put away Ny labor, and my leisure too, For his civility.

We passed the school, where children strove At recess, in the ring;
We passed the fields of gazing grain,
We passed the setting sun.

Or rather, he passed us;
The dews grew quivering and chill,
For only gossamer my gown,
Ny tippet only tulle.

We paused before a house that seemed A swelling of the ground;
The roof was scarcely visible,
The cornice but a mound.

Since then 'tis centuries, and yet each Feels shorter than the day
I first surmised the horses' heads
Were toward eternity.
